

Colonel Publishing and McCrary Security Consulting, Inc. believes that privacy is important to the success and use of the Internet. This statement sets forth Colonel Publishing's Privacy Statement for the www.bossforce1.com Merchant Account and Greeting Page at www.colonelpublishing.com. It describes the practices that both Colonel Publishing and McCrary Security Consulting, Inc. will follow with respect to the privacy of users of this site. From time to time, we may change this Privacy Statement.

What is personally identifiable information?

"Personally identifiable information" is information about you, such as name, address, e-mail address, credit card number and so on.

How is information collected, used, and disclosed?

We do not collect personal information -- including your e-mail address -- unless we first ask you for it. On some of our sites, we may request that you voluntarily supply us with information, including your e-mail address, street address, telephone number or other information so that we may enhance your site visit or follow up with you after your visit such as to inform you that an order has shipped. Whether you provide any information is entirely up to you.

If you have voluntarily provided information, you consented to the collection and use of your personally identifiable information as described in this Privacy Statement. In some circumstances although unlikely, Colonel Publishing and McCrary Security Consulting, Inc. may share information you voluntarily provide us with trustworthy business partners. We do not sell or rent personal information collected through this site to anyone. Also, Colonel Publishing and McCrary Security Consulting, Inc. may provide aggregate statistics about visitors to our sites, such as volume, traffic patterns, and related site information to reputable third-party vendors, but these statistics will include no personally identifiable information. Colonel Publishing and McCrary Security Consulting, Inc. may also disclose information in special cases when we have a good faith belief that such action is necessary to: (a) conform to legal requirements or comply with legal process; (b) protect and defend our rights or property; (c) enforce the Web site Terms and Conditions of Use; or (d) act to protect the interests of our users or others.

What are cookies and how are they used?

Some sites may utilize a standard technology called "cookies" to collect information about how our site is used. Colonel Publishing and McCrary Security Consulting, Inc do not use "cookies". Cookies were designed to help a web site operator determine that a particular user had visited the site previously and thus save and remember any preferences that may have been set while the user was browsing the site. Cookies are small strings of text that web sites can send to your browser. Cookies cannot retrieve any other data from your hard drive or obtain your e-mail address. If you are simply browsing sites that use "cookies" ---- a cookie may be used to identify your browser as one that has visited the site before.

What are your choices regarding collection, use, and distribution of your information?

If you have voluntarily provided information, you consented to the collection and use of your personally identifiable information as described in this Privacy Statement. If, in connection with your use of a particular service, we ask to use your data in a way not described in this Privacy Statement and you do not wish to permit that use, you can choose not to use the particular service.

How do we protect your information?

We exercise great care to protect your personally identifiable information. This includes, among other things, using industry standard techniques offered through our Yahoo Merchant Account. Unfortunately, no data transmission over the Internet can be guaranteed to be 100% secure. As a result, while we strive to protect your personally identifiable information, we cannot ensure or warrant the security of any information you transmit to us or receive from us. This is especially true for information you transmit to us via e-mail. We have no way of protecting that information until it reaches us. Once we receive your transmission, we make our best effort to ensure its security on our servers.

Internally, we will restrict access to your personally identifiable information to employees who need access to the information in order to do their jobs. These employees are limited in number, and are committed to our privacy policies. Because we use Pay Pal as our Merchant Provider, your financial information is not revealed to our company employees.

We will review our security arrangements from time to time as we deem appropriate.

How can you help protect your information?
